

Information on stays abroad involving students from the University of Lübeck

The University of Lübeck welcomes and supports opportunities for its students to spend time abroad at foreign universities, research institutions, companies, etc. This is a declared aim of the University of Lübeck.

In this context, we confirm that _____ is a student of _____ at the University of Lübeck.

The research period abroad is (please tick as appropriate):

- Part of the course curriculum
- Supplementary to the course curriculum.

Proof of successfully completed achievements from students in bachelor and master programmes can, in accordance with the respective applicable version of the examination regulations (statute) of the University of Lübeck, be recognised by the examination committee of the University of Lübeck as part of the requirements to be fulfilled for the respective course.

In addition, the stay abroad takes place bilaterally between student and the foreign institution. The student and the institution may conclude a contract. However, no legal relationship exists between the foreign host organisation and the University of Lübeck. This means that the University of Lübeck is discharged from any and all liability, as well as from responsibility for the transfer of rights from results or any other source. In addition, the university bears no responsibility for the securing of liability insurance. The student alone is responsible for this.